SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

Collective Action and Class Action Complaint

Plaintiff CLAUDIO RENE CALLE individually and on behalf of other similarly situated employees by and through his attorneys, FISHER TAUBENFELD LLP, alleges against Defendants 31 EAST 21 EXPRESS INC. (“31 East”), BEST THAI ON 8 CORP. (“8 Corp”), RTC 18 CORP (“RTC”), 331 LEXINGTON RESTAURANT CORP. (“331 Lexington”), EXPRESS THAI ONE, INC. (“Express”), LUCKY THAI EXPRESS INC. (“Lucky Thai”), PUN SAN LAAN INC (“Laan”), BEST THAI ON GRAMERCY INC (“Best Thai”), ANDY YANGEKSAKUL a/k/a. ANDY YANG (“Yang”), KARNCHANART SAE LOO (“Loo”), MACHARVADEE PREMWONGSIRI (“Premwongsiri”) and THANAPHAN LAONUTWUTTIKUL (“Laonutwuttikul”) (collectively, the “Individual Defendants”) (the Corporate Defendants and Individual Defendants are collectively “Defendants”) as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. Plaintiff was formerly employed by the Corporate Defendants, the owner of a Thai restaurant located in Manhattan, and its owner. During Plaintiff's employment, Defendants did not pay him properly under the Fair Labor Standards Act ("FLSA"), 29 U.S.C. § 201 et seq. and New York State Labor Law ("NYLL"). In 2019, the restaurant was sold and the new owner continued to violate the FLSA and NYLL.

2. The new owner also discriminated against Plaintiff in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1981 ("Section 1981"), New York City Human Rights Law, New York City Administrative Code § 8-101 et seq. ("City Law") and the New York State Human Rights Law, Executive Law §290 et seq. ("Human Rights Law") based on Plaintiff's national origin and ethnicity.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 201 et seq. (Fair Labor Standards Act), 28 U.S.C. § 1337 (interstate commerce), and 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (original federal question jurisdiction). Supplemental jurisdiction over the New York State law claims is conferred by 28 U.S.C. § 1337(a), as such claims are so related in this action within such original jurisdiction that they form part of the same case or controversy under Article III of the United States Constitution.

3. Venue is proper in this District because Defendants conduct business in this district, and the acts and/or omissions giving rise to the claims alleged herein took place in this District.

THE PARTIES

4. Upon information and belief, Defendant Express is a domestic business corporation previously organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York and maintains its principal place of business at 31 East 21st Street New York, NY 10010.

5. Upon information and belief, Defendant Best Thai is a domestic business corporation previously organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York and maintains its principal place of business at 31 East 21st Street New York, NY 10010.

6. Upon information and belief, Defendant Laan is a domestic business corporation previously organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York and maintains its principal place of business at 31 East 21st Street New York, NY 10010.

7. Upon information and belief, Defendant Lucky Thai is a domestic business corporation previously organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York and maintains its principal place of business at 31 East 21st Street New York, NY 10010

8. Upon information and belief, at all times relevant hereto, each Corporate Defendant has been a business or enterprise engaged in interstate commerce employing more than two (2) employees and earning gross annual sales over $500,000.

9. Upon information and belief, at all relevant times hereto, Defendants have been and continue to be “employers” engaged in interstate “commerce” and/or in the production of “goods” for “commerce,” within the meaning of the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. § 203.

10. Defendants constitute an enterprise within the meaning of the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. § 203(r).

11. Upon information and belief, each Individual Defendant resides in the State of New York and is or was an owner, manager and/or employee of one or more Corporate Defendant.

12. Defendants are corporations and their owners, which all own or owned Nana Thai Restaurant (“Nana Thai Restaurant”), which is a restaurant engaged in the business of serving food and drink to customers in Manhattan.

13. Premwongsiri, Yang, and Loo were, upon information and belief, the owners and/or operators of Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington.

14. Laonutwuttikul is, upon information and belief, the owner and/or operator of Laan.

15. Nana Thai Restaurant is a Thai restaurant. Nana Thai employ cooks, dishwashers, server, busboys and other similar employees in both the front and back of the house all of whom, upon information and belief, are paid less than required under federal and New York State law for their work each hour and week.

16. Plaintiff has been employed by Defendants to work as a cook within the last six (6) years. Plaintiff initially worked for Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington and its owners under the restaurant names Rhong-Tiam and Rhong-Tiam Express.

17. The direct owner of the restaurant prior to the sale was, upon information and belief, Defendant Lucky Thai. Express Thai subleased the space to Lucky Thai.

18. Defendant Yang was a widely-renowned chef who owned and operated Rhong-Tiam, and Rhong-Tiam won a Michelin Star in 2010 with him as the main chef and creator of the recipes.

19. In 2014, however, 9 employees sued Rhong-Tiam and many of the Defendants in this case for violations of the FLSA and NYLL. Bazan v. Best Thai on Grammercy Inc., SDNY Doc. No.: 15-cv-4830. The case ultimately settled, but the Defendants, including Lucky Thai and Express, breached the settlement agreement and appear to have only made 10% of the payments.

20. Plaintiff was a chef. Defendant Wang trained Plaintiff, who later became the head chef at Rhong-Tiam. In this role, Plaintiff cooked the dishes that Defendant Wang taught him to make.

21. Laan and Laonutwuttikul (“Successors”) subsequently purchased the restaurant in and about March or April 2019 and changed the name to Nana Thai. However, the changes to the restaurant were cosmetic.

22. The sale was entirely in cash without even a written agreement and was, upon information and belief, for a nominal amount of money that has not yet been disclosed in discovery. Upon information and belief, no attorney represented either side.

23. Around the same time as the sale, Lucky Thai and Express surrendered their lease for the restaurant.

24. Plaintiff and the other employees were not aware that a sale had even occurred. Defendant Premwongsiri advised the employees merely that she now had a new partner who would be now running the restaurant.

25. Lucky and Laan were aware or should have been aware of the legal improprieties before purchasing Nana Thai Restaurant. Even a cursory review of Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington's payroll practices at the time of the sale would have alerted Laan that Defendants Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington had violated several federal and New York State wage laws. Further, Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington had been sued for similar FLSA and NYLL violations prior to the sale.

26. The Successors had constructive notice of the sale given the extensive prior FLSA and NYLL litigation against the prior owners, which was publicly available on the internet on websites such as courtlistener.com and pacermonitor.com.

27. There were numerous red flags regarding the sale including that it was a cash sale with no written agreement, neither side had an attorney, and the lease was surrendered despite the sale.

28. Lucky Thai and Express cannot provide relief for its violations.

29. Lucky Thai owes approximately $60,000 in sales tax that it has not paid for years. As a result, the New York State Department of Finance and Taxation has refused to allow Lucky Thai to dissolve despite its many attempts to do so.

30. Further, the original owners reached a settlement with the 9 employees who brought claims under the FLSA and NYLL but breached that agreement after only making 10% of the payments and appear to owe over $160,000 to those employees.

31. There is no indication that Defendant Lucky Thai possesses any assets or is earning any revenue.

32. Upon the sale, Laan continues to operate the restaurant under the different name Nana Thai.

33. The restaurant did not undergo any construction after the sale.

34. Nana Thai was open the same hours as Rhong-Tiam, used the same phone number, and sold substantially the same cuisine.

35. Although Nana Thai changed some of the items on the menu, particularly by no longer selling smoothies, the main courses and appetizers were substantially identical and because Plaintiff continued to be the main chef, he cooked the same recipes. For example the chef's recommendations remained almost identical. A number of the dishes at both Rhong-Tiam and Nana Thai had unusual names, such as "Flaming Green Bean Marinated Chicken," "Rama Peanut Gravy Chicken," and "Southern Style Chicken" that are not commonly found in other Thai restaurants.

36. Both Rhong-Tiam and Nana Thai sell dishes that are more commonly found at Chinese restaurants such as General Tso's Chicken and use Peking Duck, which is more common at a Chinese restaurant, as an ingredient, and lack dishes that are regularly found in other Thai restaurants such as Curry Puffs.

37. Further, the pay practices remained the same. Although Plaintiff worked fewer hours than under the old owners, Nana Thai paid him partly by check and cash and did not pay him overtime or spread-of-hours payments, instead paying him daily pay despite the number of hours he worked.

38. The restaurant continued to operate at the same location and operated via the same machinery and equipment. For example, Nana Thai used the stovetops, refrigerators, freezers, and grill that had been used at Rhong-Tiam and which it purchased when it bought the restaurant. It also used the same rice cookers, pans, utensils, tongs, and sauce containers.

39. Nana Thai employed substantially the same workforce that worked at Rhong-Tiam. As noted above, Plaintiff continued to work for the restaurant after the sale. Initially, all the employees that worked before the sale continued to work for Nana Thai. A few months later, Nana Thai terminated the delivery employees. However, a majority of the employees, including the cooks, food preparers and initially the cashiers, continued working for Nana Thai. These employees include Gaspar Mejia Chitic, Zenon [LNU], Cherry [LNU], and Vas [LNU].

40. The supervisory employees changed because Defendant Laonutwuttikul took over the management of the restaurant.

41. Upon information and belief, Lucky and Laan purchased the assets and liabilities of the restaurant.

42. As noted above, Nana Thai has a substantially identical menu as Rhong-Tian did before the sale. In addition, Nana Thai utilized the same recipes and employed the same chef – namely Plaintiff – to make the food.

43. Laan retained many of Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington's unlawful pay practices.

44. Laan therefore operated Nana Thai in substantial continuity with Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington and is liable to Plaintiff and other similarly situated employees for Express, Best Thai, 31 East, 8 Corp, RTC, and 331 Lexington's violations

45. Plaintiff was at all times material hereto a “person” within the meaning of the City Law, protected from discrimination on the basis of national origin and ethnicity.

46. Each Individual Defendant is, upon information and belief, the principal and an officer of one or more Corporate Defendants

47. Upon information and belief, each Individual Defendant possesses the authority to hire and fire employees, supervise their work schedules, set their rates of pay and maintain payroll records.

48. Upon information and belief, each Individual Defendant approves or approved the payroll practices for Nana Thai Restaurant's employees, including Plaintiff.

49. Each Individual Defendant possesses operational control over Nana Thai Restaurant and its employees through his financial control over Nana Thai Restaurant.

50. In particular, Defendant Andy hired Plaintiff before the sale to Defendant Laan set his rate of pay, and set his hours.

51. After the sale, Defendant Laonutwuttikul possesses the authority to hire and fire employees, supervise their work schedules, set their rates of pay and maintain payroll records.

52. Defendant Laonutwuttikul approves the payroll practices for Nana Thai Restaurant's employees, including Plaintiff.

53. Defendant Laonutwuttikul possesses operational control over Nana Thai Restaurant and its employees through his financial control over Nana Thai Restaurant.

54. Each Individual Defendant is engaged in business in the City of New York, County of New York and is sued individually in his capacity as an owner, officer, employee, and/or agent of one of the Corporate Defendants

55. Each Individual Defendant exercises or exercised sufficient operational control over one or more Corporate Defendant's operations to be considered Plaintiff's employer under FLSA and NYLL.

56. At all relevant times, Defendants have been Plaintiff's employers within the meaning of the NYLL §§ 2 and 651.

NATURE OF THE ACTION

57. Plaintiff brings this action (a) pursuant to the FLSA and the regulations thereto on behalf of herself and other similarly situated employees who were employed by Defendants within three (3) years before the filing of the instant Complaint; and (b) pursuant to the NYLL (§ 650 et seq.) and the New York Commissioner of Labor's Wage Order (the "Wage Orders,") codified at 12 N.Y.C.R.R. 146 et seq. on behalf of herself and other similarly situated employees who worked on or after the date that is six (6) years before the filing of the instant Complaint, based upon the following acts and/or omissions which Defendants committed:

- i. Defendants' failure to pay proper overtime compensation to Plaintiff as required by federal and state law and regulations when she worked in excess of forty (40) hours per week; and
- ii. Defendants' failure to provide Plaintiff with spread-of-hours payments under 12 NYCRR 146-1.6;
- iii. Defendants' failure to provide Plaintiff with a wage notice and paystubs as required by NYLL § 195.

58. Additionally, Plaintiff brings this action to challenge Defendants' practice of national origin and ethnicity discrimination in the terms, conditions, and privileges of Plaintiff's employment in violation of the City Law and State Law.

59. During all relevant times, Defendants employed at least four (4) people and constituted an employer within the definition of the City Law.

60. Pursuant to § 8-502(c) of the City Law, within ten days of the filing this Complaint with the Court, Plaintiff will serve a copy of this Complaint on the New York City Commission on Human Rights and on the Corporation Counsel for the City of New York.

61. Defendants have knowingly and willfully engaged in a policy, pattern or practice of violating the FLSA and NYLL, as detailed in this Complaint.

FACT ALLEGATIONS

I. Defendants' Wage and Hour Violations.

62. At all times relevant hereto, Defendants have committed the following acts and/or omissions intentionally and willfully, with knowledge that they have been violating federal and state laws and that Plaintiff has been and continue to be economically injured.

A. Plaintiff's Schedule and Pay.

63. Plaintiff worked for Defendant Best Thai and Express and their owners as a cook from approximately 2010 until April 2019.

64. Plaintiff then worked for Defendant Laan and its owner from April 2019 until October 5, 2020 with a break from March 16, 2020 until April 30, 2020.

65. At the beginning of his employment, Plaintiff worked 6 days a week from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

66. Starting in 2016, Plaintiff worked 5 days a week from 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

68. Beginning on May 1, 2020, Plaintiff began working 3 days a week from 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

69. In September 2020, Plaintiff began working 3 full days from 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. and one-half day from 10:45 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

70. Throughout Plaintiffs' employment, he began work 15 minutes before his shift.

71. Through Plaintiff's employment, Defendants paid him a set salary no matter how many hours he worked.

72. Plaintiff was paid partly by check and partly by cash.

73. Both before and after the sale, Plaintiff was paid a set amount for each day he worked.

74. In 2015, Plaintiff earned approximately $700 weekly.

75. In 2016, when Plaintiff began working 5 days a week, he earned approximately $800 weekly.

76. In December 2019, Defendants reduced Plaintiff's pay to $750 weekly.

77. Beginning on May 1, 2020, Defendants began paying Plaintiff $500 weekly.

78. In September 2020, Defendants raised Plaintiff's pay to approximately $600 weekly.

79. Plaintiff's pay via check fluctuated from week to week, but he still received the same total pay between his check and cash.

80. Plaintiff was permitted to a 30 minute meal break for only a short period of time during his employment.

B. Violations Affecting Plaintiff.

1. Overtime Violations

81. Although Plaintiff regularly worked more than 40 hours each work, Defendants, both before and after the sale never paid him for his overtime work, either at their regular rate or at an overtime premium of 150% of their regular rate.

2. Notice and Recordkeeping Violations

82. Defendants failed to provide Plaintiff with a wage notice or paystubs in compliance with NYLL § 195.

83. Defendants did not provide Plaintiff with a notice specifying her rate of pay, the basis of pay, allowances (if any) claimed against the minimum wage (e.g., tips, meals, lodging, etc.), or the identification of the regular pay day.

84. Defendants also did not provide Plaintiff with a proper paystub specifying the pay period, her hourly rate of pay, the regular and overtime hours she worked, or any other information required under NYLL § 195.

85. Defendants have willfully disregarded and purposefully evaded recordkeeping requirements of the FLSA and NYLL and supporting regulations.

3. Defendants' Failure to Pay Spread-of-Hours Payments.

86. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiff spread-of-hours payments.

87. Although Plaintiff regularly worked more than 10 hours in a day, Defendants did not pay Plaintiff for an extra hour of work at the minimum wage when Plaintiff worked more than 10 hours in a day.

II. Defendants' National Origin and Ethnicity Discrimination.

88. Defendants Lucky, Laan, and Laonutwuttikul discriminated against Plaintiff by subjecting him a hostile work environment.

89. Plaintiff is Hispanic and his national origin is from Ecuador.

90. Defendant Laonutwuttikul routinely denied Plaintiff and other Hispanic employees meal breaks, which he permitted Thai employees to take.

91. Defendant Laonutwuttikul also made derogatory comments to Hispanic employees. He told them that used to be in a gang and threatened to kill them.

92. Defendant Laonutwuttikul also told Hispanic employees that he had stabbed someone previously and proceeded to threaten to kill them by making a gun gesture with his hand.

93. These comments and actions constituted a hostile work environment.

II. Collective Action Allegations.

94. Defendants' violations of the FLSA and NYLL extend beyond the Plaintiff to all other similarly situated employees.

95. Plaintiff seeks certification of this action as a collective action on behalf of herself, individually, and all other similarly situated current and former employees of Defendants pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

96. Plaintiff's Consent to Sue form was attached as Exhibit 1 to Plaintiff's original complaint.

97. Upon information and belief, there are at least 40 current and former waiters, waitresses, cooks, dishwashers, deliverymen and other employees performing similar duties who have been denied minimum wage and overtime compensation while working for Defendants.

98. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and others who are and/or have been similarly situated, have had substantially similar job requirements and pay provisions, and have been subject to Defendants' common practices, policies, programs, procedures, protocols and plans of willfully failing and refusing to pay the statutorily required minimum wage for all hours worked, willfully failing and refusing to pay the statutorily required overtime compensation for hours worked in excess of forty (40) per workweek, and willfully failing to keep records required by the FLSA. Plaintiff's stated herein are similar to those of other employees.

99. In bringing this action, Plaintiff is representative of and is acting on behalf of the interests of other current and former employees who have worked for Defendants within the last three (3) years.

100. Similarly situated former and current employees are readily identifiable and locatable through Defendants' records. These similarly situated employees should be notified of and allowed to opt-in to this action, pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

III. Class Action Allegations Under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3) for Violations of the NYLL.

101. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of himself and all other current and former waiters, waitresses, cooks, dishwashers, deliverymen and other persons who were or are employed by Defendants but who did not receive compensation required by the NYLL in respect to their work for Defendants.

102. Upon information and belief, this class of persons consists of not less than 40 persons, and the class is thus so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable under the standards of Fed.R.Civ.P.23(a)(1).

103. There are questions of law and fact common to the class, which predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, specifically: whether employment of Plaintiff by Defendants is subject to jurisdiction and wage and overtime requirements of the NYLL.

104. The claims of Plaintiff are typical of the claims of the above-described class in that all of the members of the class have been similarly affected by the acts and practices of Defendants.

105. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the class, in that her interests are not adverse to the interests of other members of the class.

106. A class action is superior to the other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy under the standards of Fed.R.Civ.P.23(b)(3).

107. Plaintiff brings the third, fourth, and fifth claim for relief herein on behalf of himself and all other persons similarly situated as a class action pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 23, in respect to all claims that Plaintiff and all persons similarly situated have against Defendants as a result of Defendants' violations of NYLL.
